An Expensive Sleep.

A young fellow who went to the Lake on Wednesday indulged in a sleep which proved to be a very expensive repose. He had been drinking and it got the better of him; so he laid down, and when he awoke discovered his vest opened, his watch and chain gone, together with all the money he had on him, besides his pistol. A wet hen is an angel of meanness compared with the youth when he awoke and made the discovery.

The Police Business.

The business done at the police court during the month of July was the greatest known in the history of the city. There were during the month 205 arrests made, and 213 prisoners put in the jail. Of the arrests made, 153 were of males, 38 of females, and 10 of boys under 14 years of age. Three prisoners were kept for other officers, and there were four lodgers, making the total inmates of the City Jail 213.

The officers state that if the present rate is kept up the arrests this month will be in excess of those above given.

The July Weather.

The month of July has been a warm one, the highest temperature, on the 1st, being recorded at 90 degrees, the lowest, on the 6th, at 55; the daily mean, 75.9, 74.3 last year.
The barometer's highest record was 29.984, on the 24th; the lowest 29.609, on the 12th. The wind traveled 3,224 miles; the highest per hour being 30 miles, which blew on the 9th. There were no foggy days, 15 clear ones and 11 fair ones. Rain fell on 6 days, but its total measurement was only .10 of an inch, as on three days it was inappreciable.
The comparative temperature for ten years were as follows: 1874, 78.2; 1875, 74.7; 1876, 76.9; 1877, 78.2; 1878, 77.7; 1879, 78.4; 1880, 75.3; 1881, 74.9; 1882, 74.3; 1883, 75.9.

CITY COUNCIL.

Proceedings of the City Council Thursday evening, August 2, 1883, Mayor Jennings presiding.

Jesse W. Fox, city surveyor, submitted profiles of streets and sidewalks grades of South Temple, First, Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth South streets, from East Temple to Sixth East street. Referred to the committee on streets and alleys.

The following appropriations were made: To road and street account, to be drawn upon the order of the supervisor of streets, $1,000; to the watermaster's contingent fund, $1,000; to the waterworks account, to be paid upon the orders of the superintendent, $500.

The following report was submitted:
"Your committee to whom was referred the report of the watermaster on the condition of the water supply in Dry canyon, beg leave to report that they find matters as represented in the report, and it is the belief of your committee that the water supply will be reasonably permanent, though there may be some diminution to the flow in the right hand fork of the canyon during the fall months.

Your committee regard the ownership of the water by the city in Dry canyon, as valuable, but we are unable to report any method of utilizing it, without the outlay of a considerable sum of money.
The cheapest method your committee can suggest as being practicable with any reasonable degree of permanency would be to convey the water from its various sources to the forks of Dry canyon, in wooden boxes or flumes made of two inch redwood plank 6x6 in the clear, to be laid on the surface of the ground, or buried only to a sufficient depth to prevent them from being interfered with by stock. The aggregate length of such boxes or flumes would be about 15,000 feet.

From the forks of Dry canyon we suggest that the water be conveyed in six inch iron water pipe to the points of discharge—the pipe to be laid below the reach of frost—say five feet deep outside of it. A four inch pipe, with 100 feet head, will carry the amount of water now flowing in Dry canyon, but it would leave no margin for a probable increase in the supply; hence we recommend the use of a six inch pipe, which would convey more than double the amount of water now developed.

With regard to the use of the Horton wooden pipe, as has been suggested, taking into consideration the difference of the carrying capacity between the Horton pipes and the iron pipe of the same size, the greater liability of the Horton pipe to burst under the required pressure, the temporary character of the wooden pipe and the small saving in the total cost of the works make in our opinion the use of the wooden pipe objectionable. The distance from the fork of Dry canyon to a point directly north of Third East street is about 15,000 feet, this representing the distance the water would have to be conveyed in pipes.

The cost of the works as above outlined would be about as follows:

|---|----------|
| 15,000 feet of red wood boxing at 40c. per foot..... | $ 5,200 |
| 15,000 feet of 6-inch iron pipe laid at $1.80 per foot..... | 24,000 | | | $29,200 |

To this must be added the cost of laying distributing pipes down the various streets connecting with the 6-inch main, and such other expenses as are incident thereto. Of this your committee make no estimate not having sufficient data to base it on; and we submit the above items for the information of the Council and await further instructions.

Respectfully,

H. DINWOODEY,
W. W. RITTS,
Committee on waterworks.

I am in favor of the foregoing report provided the means to carry out the suggestions and specifications thereof, can be obtained, so that the work can proceed at once; but I think that by the use of cheaper piping, which in my judgment would answer the purpose, the work could be accomplished for perhaps, one half the expense.

JOHN F. SMITH.

The Council being anxious to take up the ordinance in relation to the numbering of houses, the report was, on motion, laid on the table subject to call.

The bill for an ordinance relating to the numbering houses was then taken up and carefully considered.
After the passage of the second reading, the bill was laid over to permit the consideration of a bill for an ordinance changing the names of certain streets, which was, after an extended discussion, killed by a motion to lay on the table indefinitely—all streets, therefore, remaining the same as at present.

Consideration of the house-numbering ordinance was then resumed and finally passed, and was referred for enrollment and publication.

Adjourned to Tuesday next at the usual hour.

THE ONTARIO.

Completion and Operation of the Ontario Tunnel.

As is already known, about ten days ago, the Ontario tunnel was run through. For some time past, gangs of men have been employed at both ends, working out from the mine, and toward the mine from the mouth of the tunnel; and the work was crowded with all possible expedition.

This tunnel was commenced in the summer of 1881, and has been in progress ever since. Its length is over 5,500 feet, and it was constructed both for convenience and saving purposes. One of the heavy expenses of operating this great mine has been the handling of water, which has greater depth was attained, has been a source of increased labor, anxiety and expense.
It was found difficult not only to handle the water by lifting it from the 600, 700 and 800 foot levels of the mine, but the same labor was attached to lifting the ore from the mine, though of course there was no such danger from the ore as there was from fresh outbreaks of water or from a failure to work of machinery employed to handle the water. The tunnel in question was projected for the purpose of carrying off the water, and thus saving a lift of 600 feet, and also causing a saving in handling the ore. Men are now at work laying in the flumes and inside of two weeks, the water which now finds an outlet at the top of the mine, will be run out from the 600 foot level.

The same saving, however, will be made in the handling of ore; indeed the saving will be greater for the water is turned loose after it gets to the top, but the ore has to be hailed in wagons from the mine to the mill, quite a distance in itself, especially when the amount of ore to be handled in this unsatisfactory manner is considered. By means of the tunnel, however, ore can be sent from the 600 foot level down to the mill on cars, thus saving the expense of hoisting 600 feet and then of loading and hauling to the mill and unloading again.

The tunnel cost the Ontario over $20 per foot, and there are over 5,500 feet, or something over $110,000.
The wisdom, however, of this investment is unquestioned, for it would be a judicious enterprise if it were intended only for the purpose of handling either the water or the ore; but, since it will be utilized for both, the entire amount involved in the construction will have been saved in far less time than it took to construct it.

There is only one thing to be regretted in the matter, which is that the tunnel was not made to tap the mine at a lower depth.

The Swan Light.

Some time ago, we mentioned that the Salt Lake Power, Light and Heating Company proposed introducing into use here the Swan incandescent electric light lamp, in connection with the Brush storage tank, as soon as the Brush Company should have filled prior orders for the same. A storage tank was then brought here to exhibit the light, etc. The company have, however, now received the first one of their own storage tanks, which they purpose putting into immediate use, by a series of practical tests or experiments. This they are anxious to do, so as to demonstrate to themselves what can be done with the incandescent light in the matter of economizing the current of the storage tank system. Such tests will determine the scope of its local usage, as also to satisfy the company at what rates they can offer its use to the general public.

THE MINSTRELS.

An Immense Affair—A Huge Success.

The colossal minstrel combination appeared for the first time in the Salt Lake Theatre last evening, to an auditorium which was packed from floor to ceiling. The applause and laughter were loud and prolonged, and the popular verdict was that it was the best minstrel entertainment that ever visited this city.
There is no mistaking the fact that the real colored man is at least the equal of his white imitator in the business of making people laugh, for greater or more unforced merritment certainly never greeted the walls of any place of amusement than was the case last evening.

The first part was entirely different from anything of the kind ever before presented here; the different parts were differently arranged and costumed, not placed together in a circle indiscriminately. The jokes were all new, which is of itself something wonderful; the acts were either new or done in a new way; and the singing was really first-class. The Zouave clog drill was perhaps the most magnificent and elaborate thing of the kind ever attempted here or elsewhere, and exhibited a marvelous discipline and concerted action; the Hyers sisters' singing was the best; and, in short, the whole performance was what we announced at the beginning—a great success.

The troupe appears again this evening in a new programme—which will be changed for the matinee and evening performance on Saturday. Those who want two or three hours solid enjoyment would consult their interest by going.

Another Till Robbed.

About 3 o'clock on Thursday afternoon burglars entered the rear of the "Bulls Head" meat market, opposite the Walker House, and during the absence of Mr. Gold-sticker, the proprietor, abstracted from the till the sum of $400 50 in cash. Mr. Goldsticker asserts positively that the money was there when he went to the front, and that it was taken during his absence of about three minutes. No clue to the criminals.

An Accident.

Last evening as Mr. B. W. E.
Jennens and George Barton were driving up the State road, and when about a mile this side of Gordon's place, they turned off the main road to a side road. The turn was too sudden and one wheel of the buggy plunged into a hole. The buggy was upset and both the occupants thrown out violently. A person who saw the mishap called for assistance and both were carried into a neighboring house. Mr. Jennens is badly cut up and bruised, but not seriously injured. Mr. Barton was unconscious for a time, but recovered, and with the exception of a most painful wrench in the back—which renders him unable to stand—he is unhurt in any manner worthy of mention.
Dr. Benedict was telephoned for and was soon attending to the heroes of the accident.

Janaushek.

The audience at the Opera House last evening was not so large as the merit of the performance or the excellence of the acting deserved. Of course counter attractions were largely responsible for the falling off, for it is a notorious fact that Janaushek has taken a firm hold upon the admirers of genuine dramatic art in this city, and their numbers are by no means few. The performance was as usual of the highest class, and those who witnessed it were delighted. This was the company's last appearance here; they now proceed to Denver.

No Temperance Fanatic.

"Fact is," said Mr. Swiller, sitting down at the round table with his friend, "Fact is—two beers, Tony!
—there's just as much temperance in eating as there is in drinking, and that's what puts me—by George that's refreshing, isn't it? Cold as ice. Fill 'em up again, Tony—out of patience with these total abstinence fanatics. A man can be temperate in his eating and temperate in his drinking, and I go—light a cigar?—in for temperance in all things. Now I like to—thank you, yes, I believe I will repeat—sit down with a friend and enjoy a glass of beer in a quiet way just as we do now. It's cool, refreshing, mildly stimulant—have another with me—and does me good. I know when I have enough, and—once more, Tony—when I have enough I know enough to quit. Now do I look—hello, there's Johnson; three beers, Tony—I was just asking Blotter here if I looked like a victim of dyspepsia. I don't drink much water this weather, I believe it's the worst—this time with me, fellows—thing a man can put into his system such weather as this. I believe beer is the best thing for any man, and I know it's the best for me. But I—don't hurry, have another before you go; here, Tony!
—don't gorge myself with it! I don't sit around and get full every time I take a drink. I like to—three more, Tony—sit down quietly with a friend and enjoy a glass of beer and a bite of lunch, but I don't like to gorge myself. I don't eat into a—fill these up again—dyspepsia either and then claim to be a temperate man. Temperance in all things, that is my motto—motto?
Thatch me. Now I don't drink donk-donkall; I donkall myself a drinking man—once more with me f. flows—I like to sit down quietly with a few friends and 'joy glass beer—just because does the good, good. But I don't drink myself to death—once more all round—like these temperance fanatics—onches in a while I like a glass of beer—just in a quiet way once in while, but you don't see—you don't see me getting full 'ev'ry time." undue indulgence in nothing over twelve more glasses and succumbs.)
